Unix Tutorial DIGEST

Unix Tutorial Digest: monthly digest of Unix/Linux topics

November 2019 has been rather slow here on the blog – lots of projects at work ahead of the usual change freezes and upcoming holiday season. I'm regularly bookmarking things that can become interesting projects, so expect it to be a very educational Christmas season – lots of things to learn and to try in Unix Tutorial world.

Please get in touch to arrange a technical consultation with me or want to suggest a useful link for the next digest here at Unix Tutorial.

Unix and Linux News

I have started a new category on Unix Tutorial – called New Releases, that's where OS upgrades and Linux kernel releases will be announced going forward (they're still blog posts).

- Linux Kernel 5.4 is here
- Red Hat Enterprise Linux 8.1 released
- OpenIndiana 2019.10 arrived
- Debian 10.2 released

Software News

- Brave 1.0 browser got finally released – I'm a daily user and find it pretty great, although ads are still annoying and intrusive – so definitely room for improvement
- GitHub launched Security Lab
- PHP 7.4 released
- Glimpse 0.1.0 is out – this is a fork of the GIMP graphics editor, easily the most well know and powerful open source editor. Will be interesting to follow the direction the new team is taking.

Interesting and Useful

- Tips for choosing a laptop – good summary for someone looking to buy a laptop
- TPM Fail made the news in November – scary!

- Google shared plans to use standard Linux Kernel in Android
- RIPE has run out of IPv4 addresses – global IPv6 usage is still nowhere near enough (around 30% this year) to get by without IPv4
